

Archived: October 11, 2018

Tourism, Recreation and Hospitality Programs

Event Management Certificate

Location Offered:

Online

Credential:

Certificate

Program Length:

1 Year

The Program

Part-time over 3 semesters

Develop skills for the exciting and growing industry of special events. Event management skills are needed in a wide range of sectors: tourism, recreation, arts and culture, sports, fundraising, corporate marketing, non-profit organizations, and more.

The program prepares graduates with the skills and knowledge needed to plan and manage festivals and events, with an emphasis on the tourism and recreation sector. It provides an opportunity to acquire the necessary knowledge and skills to work in event management, as well as providing professional development and credentialing for those already working in this field.

The program was developed jointly by Vancouver Island University and Thompson Rivers University, and is offered completely online.

Program Outline

	Credits
CONV 101 - (Introduction to Tourism)	3
CONV 102 - (Introduction to Special Events Management)	3
CONV 103 - (Celebrating Community and Culture)	3
CONV 104 - (Event Volunteer Management)	3
CONV 105 - (Event Law and Risk Management)	3
CONV 106 - (Event Marketing)	3
Total Credits	18

Further Studies

Students interested in continuing their studies, may be interested in our Tourism Studies or Recreation & Sport Management Diploma programs.

Completion Requirements

Students are eligible for a Certificate in Events Management upon completion of all coursework (6 courses) with a minimum grade of 50% in each course.

Continuing Requirements/Minimum Sessional Grade Point Average

Students must achieve a GPA of 2.33 (C+), with a minimum grade of "C-" in all courses in order to graduate.

Admission Requirements

- General admission requirements apply.

Notes on Admission

- This program is offered exclusively online.
- Applications are accepted on an ongoing basis.

Career Opportunities

Graduates of the Event Management Certificate program will possess the skills required by the event management industry, applicable to event planning and management in public, corporate, and non-profit sectors. Employment opportunities include organizing and planning conferences and conventions, sports and recreation events, tourism events, festivals, arts and culture events, and corporate events. Graduates may become self-employed as contractors, or they may be hired by charitable organizations, trade and professional associations, convention and conference centres, governments, or conference and event planning companies.

Employment growth is expected in the events management sector as a result of increasing tourism in BC and the development of new facilities throughout BC which provide increased capacity to host major events.

Start Date and Application Deadline

New courses are offered each September, January and April so that all available courses are offered at least once per year. Applications are accepted on an ongoing basis. There is no application deadline, but courses fill quickly so please register early to be considered for the next available intake. For further information and program contacts check the Program Availability List.

Archived: October 11, 2018