Child and Youth Care First Nations Diploma

Credential:

Diploma

Program Length:

2 Years

The Program

The Child and Youth Care First Nations program provides students with the knowledge and skills to work with individuals, their families and small groups across a variety of practice settings which provide support to First Nations children, youths and their families.

The program reflects the needs of First Nations peoples and is continually developing with involvement from the First Nations communities of the Cowichan area, as well as from the First Nations students who bring the teachings of their communities into the program.

The Child and Youth Care First Nations program is offered on a full-time basis. The core courses must be taken concurrently and are offered over a two-year period.

Students who successfully complete the two-year program, including 300 hours of practicum, will be eligible for VIU's Diploma in Child and Youth Care. This program is referred to as a "ladder" program. Students exiting the program with a CYC diploma may choose to apply their earned credits toward a Bachelor of Arts in Child and Youth Care degree at Vancouver Island University, University of the Fraser Valley, University of Victoria or Douglas College.

Completion Requirements

To be eligible for a Diploma in Child and Youth Care First Nations, students must have completed at least 60 credits, have completed all admission requirements and have completed all required Child and Youth Care First Nations courses. A minimum overall "C+" average and a minimum "C+" in each individual required course is necessary to progress in the program and to qualify for graduation. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that all requirements for the diploma are met. Students are encouraged to consult the Child and Youth Care First Nations Instructors for information and guidance.

Admission Requirements

- General admission requirements apply.
- English 12 with minimum "C" grade or equivalent.
- Resume describing the applicant's education and employment background.
- Two completed reference forms. Blank forms will be mailed to applicant upon receipt of application.
- An interview, following receipt of the above items.

Notes on Admission

- Criminal Record Check. Fieldwork and/or practicums will require a satisfactory criminal record check prior to placement. Criminal Record Checks are requested through VIU. The Registration Centre at VIU will contact prospective students by mail regarding the requirements for a Criminal Record Check. Criminal Record Checks are processed through the Ministry according to the Criminal Records Review Act. A check completed through the RCMP is not sufficient to meet the requirements of the Act.
- Electives must be approved by the CYC First Nations Coordinator in consultation with the CYC department. Some of these university credit requirements can be met by the Arts One-First Nations program.
- All interested persons are encouraged to apply to this Diploma program; however eligible applicants of First Nations ancestry will be given priority for admission.
- Upon admission, students will be expected to be familiar with and adhere to the Code of Ethics of the Child and Youth Care Association of British Columbia and the The Council of Canadian Child and Youth Care Associations.

Career Opportunities

Graduates from the program are prepared for the general practice of child and youth care work in community settings with both First Nations and non-First Nations children, youths and their families.

General practice in these settings calls for individuals who are willing and able to work cooperatively with other community professionals at tribal health centres, schools, friendship centres, community and social service agencies, hospitals and corrections facilities.

Start Date and Application Deadline

The program starts in September at the Cowichan campus and applications are accepted from the first business day in October to February 28.
